

When college dropout Adam moves in to his aunt's failing space-rock store, the last thing he expects is an amorous encounter with an interdimensional medic. Neither was a night with Adam part of the plan for Auriga. Her Mothership is scanning history for DNA to undo the damage of excessive cloning in the future, without leaving traces that would collapse their timeline. Guided by unknown spiritual forces, Adam and Auriga embark on a quest where the pair must navigate their feelings for each other, receive a lost message for humanity, save the rock-shop, and find new hope for life on earth.